What's New In?

The WinMailMRU is a small utility that is designed to clear the recently used mail addresses in Windows Mail. The program will work on the auto-complete entries in any of the various windows where the auto-complete entries have been installed. For example, if you install the auto-complete entries in the Address book, they will also be installed in the Windows Mail window. WinMailMRU Main Window: When you first open the WinMailMRU, you will notice two buttons in the bottom-right side of the window labeled "Clear All Recently Used Addresses" and "Clear Currently Used Address." You will also notice that when you open the program, it has a dirty look to it, as if it were a brand-new application that has never been used before. Click on the "Clear All Recently Used Addresses" button to clear the recently used email addresses from the Windows Mail Address book. When you click on this button, the Address book will begin to populate with a list of all of the recently used email addresses. Once the list is populated, you will be asked to select a way to delete the recently used addresses. Note: If you do not select a way to delete the recently used addresses, the program will clear the addresses without prompting you to confirm the deletion or offer a warning. Click on the "Clear Currently Used Address" button to clear the currently used email address from the Windows Mail window. When you click on this button, Windows Mail will display a dialog that displays the currently used address. If the currently used address is already removed from Windows Mail, it will be removed from the list. If the currently used address is still in the list, it will be removed from the list, and you will be prompted to select a method of deleting the address. NOTE: This tool was not designed to remove any other types of information from Windows Mail, only the recently used addresses. If you have other items in your recently-used items list, the program will not remove them. Only the addresses and selected categories will be removed. WinMailMRU Screenshot: WinMailMRU Usage: Press the "Paint" button. The paint window will open and the "Add" button will be highlighted. Click on the "Add" button.
